

Taking a shot to help save a life: Canada Life to make donation to Canadian Blood Services at London Knights game

Donation to be made in Carolyn Gallacher's name

London, ON, January 22, 2020. . . One local blood product recipient will take a shot to help save a life at the London Knights game on Friday, Jan. 24.

As the game's presenting sponsor, Canada Life will invite Carolyn Gallacher to shoot for the chance to have a $1,000 donation made to Canadian Blood Services in her name.

- In 1999, Carolyn Gallacher required weeks of plasma exchange and blood to keep her alive after being diagnosed with Thrombotic Thrombocytopenic Purpura (TTP), a rare blood disorder where blood clots form in small blood vessels throughout the body. Carolyn is considered a chronic TTP patient, having relapsed four times since her diagnosis.

"Every minute of every day, someone in Canada needs blood," said Jeff Macoun, President and Chief Operating Officer, Canada, Canada Life. "We're proud to continue our long-standing partnership with Canadian Blood Services and at the same time, offer people a chance to make a meaningful contribution to a cause they care about so deeply."

Canada Life has been a dedicated supporter of Canadian Blood Services for more than 50 years. In 2015, Canada Life made a national commitment to support Canadian Blood Services and Hema Quebec Donor Services by officially joining the Partners for Life program. The company is also a founding national sponsor of the NextGen Lifeline program. In 2019, Canada Life extended their support for Canadian Blood Services by partnering with them for select Canadian Hockey League Game Nights in communities across the country.

About Canadian Blood Services

Canadian Blood Services is a not-for-profit charitable organization. Regulated by Health Canada as a biologics manufacturer and primarily funded by the provincial and territorial ministries of health, Canadian Blood Services operates with a national scope, infrastructure and governance that make it unique within Canadian healthcare. In the domain of blood, plasma and stem cells, we provide services for patients on behalf of all provincial and territorial governments except Quebec. The national transplant registry for interprovincial organ sharing and related programs reaches into all provinces and territories, as a biological lifeline for Canadians. Learn more at blood.ca.
