Management Discussion of Fund Performance

November 10, 2020

This Management Discussion of Fund Performance presents the portfolio management team's view on the significant factors and developments during the period ended September 30, 2020 (the "period"), that have affected the Fund's performance and outlook. If the Fund was established during the period, "period" represents the period from inception to the end of the fiscal period. For information on the Fund's longer-term performance, as applicable, please refer to the Past Performance section of the report. In this report, "Mackenzie" refers to Mackenzie Financial Corporation, the manager of the Fund. In addition, net asset value ("NAV") refers to the value of the Fund as calculated for transaction purposes, on which the discussion of Fund performance is based.

Results of Operations

Investment Performance

The performance of the Fund's I Series securities is discussed below. The performance of all series is shown in the Past Performance section of the report. Where series returns differ, it is primarily because different levels of fees and expenses were charged to each series, or because securities of a series were not issued and outstanding for the entire reporting period. Please refer to the Fund Formation and Series Information section of this report for the varying management and administration fees payable by each series.

During the period, the Fund's I Series securities returned 15.2% (after deducting fees and expenses paid by the series). This compares with the S&P/TSX Composite Index return of 22.5%. All index and series returns are calculated on a total return basis in Canadian dollar terms. Investors cannot invest in an index without incurring fees, expenses and commissions, which are not reflected in the index returns.

Canadian equity markets advanced over the period as improved economic activity and slowing COVID-19 infection rates in some regions globally prompted expectations of a recovery. Equity valuations were supported by record-low bond yields as the Bank of Canada kept its policy rate near zero. The materials sector was lifted by gold company shares as bullion climbed above US$2,000 per ounce.

Within the S&P/TSX Composite Index, information technology, materials and consumer discretionary were the strongest sectors, while health care, communication services and energy were the weakest.

The Fund underperformed the index, with stock selection in the information technology sector and underweight exposure to the materials sector detracting from performance. Stock selection in the real estate sector also detracted. On a country level, holdings in the United States detracted.

Conversely, underweight positions and stock selection in the utilities and health care sectors contributed to performance.

Over the period, exposure to the information technology sector increased because the portfolio management team believes many companies in this sector offer superior, resilient growth. The team decreased exposure to the financials sector in response to the challenges of ultra-low interest rates and increased loan loss provisioning. Changes to the portfolio included the elimination of the position in the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Net Assets

The Fund's NAV increased by 65.7% to $21.1 million at September 30, 2020, from $12.8 million at March 31, 2020. This change was composed primarily of $2.1 million in net income (including dividend and interest income) from investment performance, after deducting fees and expenses, and $6.3 million in net sales.

See Other Related Party Transactions for the percentage of the Fund's NAV owned by related parties. As a result of these investments, the Fund is subject to large transaction risk as discussed in the Prospectus. Mackenzie manages this risk to reduce the possibility of any adverse effect on the Fund or on its investors, through such processes as requiring advance notice of large redemptions. At September 30, 2020, Mackenzie had received no such notices.

Fees and Expenses

The annualized management expense ratio ("MER") for I Series of 0.00% during the period ended September 30, 2020, was slightly lower than the MER of 0.01% for the year ended March 31, 2020. Other than certain specific fund costs, the management fee and administration fee were paid directly to Mackenzie by investors in this series. The MERs (before and after waivers or absorptions, if any) for all series are presented in the Financial Highlights section of this report.

Recent Developments

The duration and long-term impact of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic on businesses and markets, and the extent of additional economic relief measures which may be offered by some governments and central banks, are unknown at the reporting date. This uncertainty means it is impossible to reliably estimate the impact on the financial results and position of the Fund in future periods.

With some government support measures expiring and economic indicators poised to slow, both globally and in Canada, the portfolio management team's concern is that earnings expectations for 2021 may prove overly optimistic. Barring any imminent vaccine for COVID-19, the team expects economic growth and corporate earnings to be constrained, leading to disappointing future earnings guidance. The team expects market volatility to remain elevated.

The team believes companies that demonstrate quality, earnings growth, strong balance sheets and a track record of returning capital to shareholders will outperform. As such, the Fund ended the period with overweight exposure to sectors with this type of growth business, namely communication services, consumer discretionary, information technology, industrials and real estate. The Fund had underweight exposure to the energy, utilities and materials sectors.

See also Management Fees.

(1) These calculations are prescribed by securities regulations and are not intended to be a reconciliation between opening and closing net assets per security. This information is derived from the Fund's unaudited interim financial statements and audited annual financial statements. The net assets per security presented in the financial statements may differ from the net asset value per security calculated for fund pricing purposes. (1) This information is provided as at the end of the fiscal period shown.

(2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. If in the period a series was established or reinstated, the management expense ratio is annualized from the date of inception or reinstatement. Mackenzie may waive or absorb operating expenses at its discretion and stop waiving or absorbing such expenses at any time without notice.

(3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

(4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not provided when the Fund is less than one year old. The value of any trades to realign the Fund's portfolio after a fund merger, if any, is excluded from the portfolio turnover rate.

Management Fees

The management fee for each series is calculated and accrued daily as a percentage of its NAV and payable quarterly to Mackenzie directly by investors and not by the Fund. These management fees were used by Mackenzie in part to pay GLC Asset Management Group Ltd., an affiliate of Mackenzie, for investment advisory services, including managing the investment portfolio of the Fund and/or the underlying fund(s), as applicable, including providing investment analysis and recommendations, making investment decisions and making brokerage arrangements for the purchase and sale of the investment portfolio.

Quadrus Investment Services Ltd. ("Quadrus"), an affiliate of Mackenzie, is the principal distributor for the Fund. The Canada Life Assurance Company, which is also an affiliate of Mackenzie, provides certain services to Mackenzie in connection with Mackenzie's portfolio management activities and pays certain administrative costs. As such, Quadrus and The Canada Life Assurance Company receive a portion of the management fees that investors in the Fund pay directly to Mackenzie. Approximately 78% of the total management fees that Mackenzie received from the Canada Life Mutual Funds during the period was paid under these arrangements.
