Management Discussion of Fund Performance

November 10, 2020

This Management Discussion of Fund Performance presents the portfolio management team's view on the significant factors and developments during the period ended September 30, 2020 (the "period"), that have affected the Fund's performance and outlook. If the Fund was established during the period, "period" represents the period from inception to the end of the fiscal period. For information on the Fund's longer-term performance, as applicable, please refer to the Past Performance section of the report. In this report, "Mackenzie" refers to Mackenzie Financial Corporation, the manager of the Fund. In addition, net asset value ("NAV") refers to the value of the Fund as calculated for transaction purposes, on which the discussion of Fund performance is based.

Results of Operations

Investment Performance

The performance of the Fund's Q Series (formerly Quadrus Series) securities is discussed below. The performance of all series is shown in the Past Performance section of the report. Where series returns differ, it is primarily because different levels of fees and expenses were charged to each series, or because securities of a series were not issued and outstanding for the entire reporting period. Please refer to the Fund Formation and Series Information section of this report for the varying management and administration fees payable by each series.

During the period, the Fund's Q Series securities returned 44.9% (after deducting fees and expenses paid by the series). This compares with the MSCI Emerging Markets (Net) Index return of 22.2%. All index and series returns are calculated on a total return basis in Canadian dollar terms. Investors cannot invest in an index without incurring fees, expenses and commissions, which are not reflected in the index returns.

Equities in emerging markets advanced over the period as improved economic activity and slowing COVID-19 infection rates in some regions globally prompted expectations of a recovery. Equity valuations were supported by low bond yields as most central banks kept interest rates low or reduced rates. In Asia, countries with strong economic ties to China, including Taiwan and South Korea, outperformed as China reopened its economy. A weaker U.S. dollar lifted commodity-sensitive equity markets such as South Africa and Brazil. Currency movements reduced returns in Canadian dollar terms.

Within the MSCI Emerging Markets (Net) Index, Argentina, Taiwan and India were the strongest-performing countries in Canadian dollar terms, while Turkey, Hungary and Thailand were the weakest. From a sector perspective, consumer discretionary, information technology and health care were the strongest performers, while utilities, real estate and financials were the weakest.

The Fund outperformed the index, with stock selection in Malaysia and Taiwan, and holdings in Hong Kong and the United States, contributing to performance. At the sector level, stock selection in health care and industrials contributed, as did underweight exposure to financials.

Conversely, overweight exposure to Indonesia and stock selection in South Korea detracted from performance. At the sector level, stock selection in communication services detracted. The Fund's cash position also detracted from performance as equity markets rose.

Over the period, neither portfolio activity nor market developments significantly changed the positioning of the Fund.

Net Assets

The Fund's NAV increased by 117.8% to $28.4 million at September 30, 2020, from $13.0 million at March 31, 2020. This change was composed primarily of $7.3 million in net income (including dividend and interest income) from investment performance, after deducting fees and expenses, and $8.1 million in net sales.

See Other Related Party Transactions for the percentage of the Fund's NAV owned by related parties. As a result of these investments, the Fund is subject to large transaction risk as discussed in the Prospectus. Mackenzie manages this risk to reduce the possibility of any adverse effect on the Fund or on its investors, through such processes as requiring advance notice of large redemptions. At September 30, 2020, Mackenzie had received no such notices.

Fees and Expenses

The annualized management expense ratio ("MER") for Q Series of 2.71% during the period ended September 30, 2020, was unchanged from the MER for the year ended March 31, 2020. The MERs (before and after waivers or absorptions, if any) for all series are presented in the Financial Highlights section of this report. The MERs for H Series, I Series, L Series and Series S decreased due to a decrease in fund costs and the Fund's decreased investment in third party ETFs.

Recent Developments

The duration and long-term impact of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic on businesses and markets, and the extent of additional economic relief measures which may be offered by some governments and central banks, are unknown at the reporting date. This uncertainty means it is impossible to reliably estimate the impact on the financial results and position of the Fund in future periods.

The portfolio management team believes massive stimulus programs are supporting equities in emerging markets, as in developed markets. Company earnings reports in the period were not as bad as expected and, at some technology firms, were considerably above consensus expectations. The Fund ended the period with a collective overweight position in India, Malaysia, Thailand, Mexico, South Korea, Taiwan and Indonesia. The team believes these countries are better placed to undertake necessary policy responses to the pandemic and also stand to benefit from a growing share of foreign direct investment as these fund flows shift away from China. The Fund had underweight exposure to markets the team believes have a higher risk-reward profile, such as Turkey, South Africa, Argentina, Russia, China and those in the Middle East.

The Fund did not rely on an approval, positive recommendation or standing instruction from the Mackenzie Funds' Independent Review Committee with respect to any related party transactions.

- (1) This information is provided as at the end of the fiscal period shown.
- (2) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. If in the period a series was established or reinstated, the management expense ratio is annualized from the date of inception or reinstatement. Mackenzie may waive or absorb operating expenses at its discretion and stop waiving or absorbing such expenses at any time without notice.
- (3) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.
- (4) The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not provided when the Fund is less than one year old. The value of any trades to realign the Fund's portfolio after a fund merger, if any, is excluded from the portfolio turnover rate.

INTERIM MANAGEMENT REPORT OF FUND PERFORMANCE | For the Period Ended September 30, 2020

EMERGING MARKETS EQUITY FUND

Management Fees

The management fee for each applicable series is calculated and accrued daily as a percentage of its NAV. The Fund's management fees were used by Mackenzie to pay for the costs of managing the investment portfolio of the Fund and/or the underlying fund(s), as applicable, including providing investment analysis and recommendations, making investment decisions and making brokerage arrangements for the purchase and sale of the investment portfolio.

Quadrus Investment Services Ltd. ("Quadrus"), an affiliate of Mackenzie, is the principal distributor for the Fund and is paid trailing commissions out of the management fees. The Canada Life Assurance Company, which is also an affiliate of Mackenzie, provides certain services to Mackenzie in connection with Mackenzie's portfolio management activities. The Canada Life Assurance Company is responsible for paying certain administrative costs and all sales commissions, trailing commissions and any other compensation (collectively, "distribution-related payments") to registered dealers whose clients invest in the Fund. As such, Quadrus and The Canada Life Assurance Company receive a portion of the management fees that the Fund pays to Mackenzie. Approximately 78% of the total management fees that Mackenzie received from the Canada Life Mutual Funds during the period was paid under these arrangements.

Mackenzie used approximately 43% of the total management fee revenues received from all Mackenzie funds during the period to fund distribution-related payments to registered dealers and brokers. In comparison, such distribution-related payments for the Fund represented on average 36% of the management fees paid by all applicable series of the Fund during the period. The actual percentage for each series may be higher or lower than the average depending on the level of trailing commissions and sales commissions paid for that series.
